Case Description

A prominent French multinational retail and wholesaling corporation stands as a pioneering global retailer in the industry. With a robust presence in various markets, our customer has consistently strived to enhance its operational efficiency. To achieve this goal, it had integrated Unitech's Mobile Computers and Software solutions into its store operations.

The reason to choose Unitech Software Solutions

The integration of MoboLink and ELauncher software provides a compelling rationale for opting for Unitech's software solutions. Firstly, MoboLink extends remote tracking and management capabilities to multiple mobile devices within an enterprise. This includes application and firmware updates, device localization, status monitoring, and swift configuration adjustments, collectively contributing to a streamlined device management process.

Secondly, ELauncher furnishes robust security controls for enterprise software usage, with a specific focus on app access management. By utilizing the Launcher Mode, it's possible to display a curated list of whitelisted apps based on job requirements. This empowers employees to promptly access the requisite apps for their tasks, significantly enhancing overall work efficiency while ensuring secure software utilization.

Challenge & Solutions

Managing all the apps on the devices and keeping track of all the devices securely were significant tasks. The company needed a solution that could provide better visibility into the installed app versions and enable them to install or update apps remotely while ensuring the security of their devices.

Benefits

- Enhance visibility into the installed app versions on Unitech devices.
- IT admins ensure that Unitech devices are always secure and protected.
- Repair and maintenance of Unitech devices can be conducted easily and effectively through remote control.
- Mobility and portable design fits in the palm of the staff's hand.
- Powerful 1D/2D barcode scanning performance.
- Speedy Wireless connectivity for seamless workflow.
